CBA-lert Activated

Carmel Business Association's system for alerting its merchants against losses derived from shoplifting, fictitious checks and other unlawful acts has now been officially activated according to the Association's Secretary Kay Scott.

Basically, this is to establish "a close knit network between merchants and the Police Department which through its effectiveness would reputedly "Keep people from trying that in Carmel".

This is how the system works: When a business has been "hit" by an unlawful act, the owner or his appointee should telephone the Carmel Police Department, explaining the circumstances. Should the offense require immediate action a chain of calls is put into action. From the time of the report to the Police Department through a set up chain of telephone calls should alert all business in about 20 minutes. A telephone list has been issued to each participating merchant accordingly.

Stanley Ewig, Retail Chairman for the Association, is in charge of C.B.A.-lert. It is his responsibility to coordinate the operation and clear difficulties which might occur.

OIL EXPLORATION PERIL

By GUNNAR NORBERG

Sometimes just a few words in the right place in the right law, can have a far reaching effect on what can happen to one's own treasured bit of the world.

The few words mentioned here, could—if enacted into law by the state legislature—stop oil companies from getting permits to explore for oil in the off-shore areas of Monterey County which, of course, include Carmel Bay and adjacent waters.

The words to which I refer, were framed into a sentence by Carmel City Attorney William Burleigh and Monterey City Attorney William Marsh, and were presented at last week's meeting of the Association of Monterey Bay Area Governments (AMBAG), which approved their intent

AMBAG will circulate the Burleigh-Marsh wording to the cities and counties making up AMBAG, probably by the end of this month. It will then be up to the individual cities and counties to act to convey their views to the state legislature concerning the exploration for oil in Monterey County's submerged off-shore lands.

If the cities and counties were to react as the AMBAG board did last week, a long step toward introduction of state legislation to stop off-shore oil exploration along the beautiful Monterey County coast, would then have been taken.

In addition to the formal action which may be taken by city councils or boards of supervisors, individual citizens can, of course, also make themselves heard, either through appropriate organizations to which they may belong, or separately in person, by phone, or by mail.

And right now, here in Carmel, there are probably summer visitors from all the principal cities of California, and many of these—if past experience is any guide—probably would be as earnest in a desire to stop off-shore oil exploration here as any dyed-in-the-wool Carmelite who has lived here for many years. If this should be their view, and if they should wish to contact their respective state senators and state assemblymen in this regard, the success of the proposed law-making effort could be more certainly assured.

But just what are the words? And just where is the place in the state law where they should be inserted?

Here's the Burleigh-Marsh sentence, which would be added to the first paragraph of Section 6826 of the Public Resources Code:

"No permit for geological or geophysical surveys for the purpose of exploration for oil or gas, shall be granted on State lands excluded as sanctuaries under Section 6871.2 of this code."

State lands, you ask? And sanctuaries? Just what do those terms mean in this context?

Three miles out to sea from the California coastline, is identified as "state lands." And "sanctuaries" are specially protected off-shore areas. Due to the efforts of former State Senator Fred Farr, who wished to retain the unspoiled beauty of the scenically unequalled seaward vistas along the Monterey County coastline, and who felt that the prospect of possible giant oil rigs marring the unparalleled views would be intolerable, initiated legislation—now known as Section 6871.2—which defined off-shore Monterey County areas as "sanctuaries," and which forbade the State Lands Commission from signing any lease with any oil company for "the extraction of oil and gas" from those areas.

But, you ask, isn't that all the law that's needed? Until

Planning Commission Study Session Held

Principal attention at yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Carmel Planning Commission, was given to three matters on its land-use-and-zoning agenda.

The first matter concerned possible amendment of the descriptions and categories of businesses which are allowable in the commercial zones of Carmel. This was referred to the Commission's land-use committee for detailed study.

The second item dealt with the question as to whether motels are now operating under use-permit in the residential areas of the city, should be allowed to convert their motel units into apartments which would include kitchens, thus changing the regular residential rule that only one kitchen per lot be allowed. This was referred to an ad hoc committee composed of Commissioners Edward Neroda, Dorothy von Meier and Dorothea Roberts (who particularly felt this matter required "deep study."

The third land-use agenda item concerned the possibility of considering an increase in the square footage to be allowed for garages. The proposal that a two-car garage be permitted to occupy 484 square feet (instead of the presently allowed 400 square feet) was presented by Chief Building Inspector Fred Cunningham. The question was referred to the land-use committee for further study.

Routine sign applications were approved, and site development proposals made by Heisler & Stewart and by Stanton Properties won the Commission's sanction. Similar proposals made by the Golden Bough Circle Theatre, were continued for further study.

Present at yesterday's meeting were Commissioners Charles McEwen (who acted as chairman), Edward Neroda, Dorothea Roberts and George Willox.

Humprey Nomination Predicted By Assemblyman Pattee

Our State Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee was the speaker this week at Carmel's Cosmos Club on Tuesday and Rotary Club on Wednesday. He recalled the days prior to 1960 in California. Then the people's representatives were able to present bills and vote purely on the basis of the best interest of their constituents. Now pressure politics dominate legislation and obedience is required to party strong men such as Jesse Unruh who, he said is a genius at organization. This man exercises considerable power for example by being able to raise large contributions like $500,000 at a fund raising dinner attended by powerful interests such as trucking. Pattee said that the power battle of State Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh (Dem.) and acting State Senate Leader Hugh Burns has bottled constructive legislation which has been worked on for nine months. Legislation such as development of State C.C.C. camps, trade schools for people on relief, transit appropriations and public school allocations must now be reopened for discussion at a special session. This will be like opening a Pandora's Box because, at that time, anything bearing upon or applying to these subjects are open for discussion.

In answer to a question from the floor, Pattee predieted "Withut a doubt, Humphrey will be the Democrat's candidate. He will select an unknown, as Nixon selected Agnew, to run with him as Vice President".

It seems we live in accordance with the will of the politicians, not necessarily that of the people. Is anything going to be done about it?

Forest Theatre Changes

Stephen Welles, managing director of WHET's Forest Theatre, Carmel, has anounced two changes concerning policy in the theatre's operations.

First, his acting workshop no longer requires a fee and is now open to the public. Along with this change he is also pleased to announce that Mr. Nick Souza, currently featured in WHET's production of, "A STREETCAR NAMED DESIRE" has agreed to begin teaching improvisational theatre in the workshop. Mr. Souza has had a long association with, "THE COMMITTEE" in San Francisco and now through WHET's workshop these techniques will be made available to interested Peninsula residents. These methods will be incorported as part of the voice and diction technique and general acting themes as presented by Mr. Welles. The Workshop will continue to meet Tuesday evenings at the THEATRE-IN-THE-GROUND, Mountain View at Santa Rita, Carmel, at 7 p.m. This is, of course, the same location at which, "STREETCAR" is currently playing, Fri., Sat. and Sun. evenings through Sept. 28th.

A future production of WHET's, perhaps the follow show, succeeding "STREETCAR" will offer students an opportunity to employ these newly acquired improvisional techniques in live performance—Further details are available by phoning 624-7580.

Stanley Plummer To Play Violin

The newest member of the Monterey Peninsula's cultural community, The Hidden Valley Music Seminars, will present a benefit concert featuring violinist, Stanley Plummer, on Saturday evening, August 24, at 8 o'clock. The second annual presentation of Mr. Plummer will be a special additional concert in Hidden Valley's series, Concerti dalla Cappella at Erdman Memorial Chapel at Robert Louis Stevenson School, Pebble Beach. Stanley Plummer began his violin studies at age four under his father's supervision. Since then he has studied with Antonio de rassi and Vera Barstow. He has garnered many musical awards including First Prize in the Associated Concerts Bureau Auditions, National Federation of Music Clubs, and the Sir Arnold Bax Medal for "outstanding performance of contemporary music."

His concert career has taken him on tours in Europe, Canada, and throughout the United States, delighting audiences from the Spolito Festival in Italy to the Hollywood Bowl. He teaches chamber music and violin at UCLA. Mr. Plummer can be heard on Everest Records.

Saturday evenings' performance will include sonatas of Franck, Debussy and Bach. Tickets may be purchased at the door or reservations made by calling 624-6737.

Spearfishing In Carmel Bay

Top spearfishing teams from the U.S.A., Canada, and Mexico, will combine their talents of stamina, accuracy, cunning, and sometimes a little luck, Sunday, August 25, in the Carmel Bay waters, site of the 1968 National Championships.

Harry Hague, Cen-Cal Diving Council's competition chairman, announces the winning three member team earns the right to compete in the 1969 World Championships.

Washington's defending National Champs have a slight edge on Cen-Cal's youthful contenders with more years of competitive experience behind them, but local team mates Terry Maas, Carl Krupanski, and Don Barthman show a strength of spirit and consistant determination which has netted them an unbeaten record for the past year from Cen-Cal's toughest challengers.

Most of the twenty qualifying teams, which include five women's teams, have been scouting, charting, and studying for a month now, the peculiarities of the wide variety of fish species found in Carmel Bay. The competitors will be free diving at about fifty foot depths through awesome giant hundred foot deep kelp forests in the five hour meet, stalking eluding fish among rare hydra coral and other unmatched underwater scenery in Carmel Bay.

Fish taken must comply with Fish and Game rules, and will be donated to a charity.

Kiwanis Donates Beach Buggy

Carmel's Kiwanis Club has authorized a doantion of $1,800 to the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea for the purchase of one beach buggy according to Mr. Hal Reliford, first vice president of the local club.

Mr. Reliford's committee, which reviewed this matter and presented it to the club for consideration, included Webb Downer, Lief Erickson and Ken Dyer.

Delivery of the vehicle is expected in about six weeks.

Dr. Lowell Adams, a Carmel Valley resident, will teach a Monterey Peninsula College class, Biology 60 (Man and His Environment), Monday evenings during the fall semester starting Sept. 10. An ecologist associated with the University of California Medical Center, San Francisco, he proposes to seek answers to the question, "How can man, potentially a pest species, keep from becoming extinct?" through lectures, class discussions and field trips. Mail registration for all of MPC's fall evening classes will close August 23, with on-campus registration to be conducted Sept. 4, 5 and 6, 6:30 to 9 p.m.

Highlands Inn Parking Lot Hearing Sept. 10

A public hearing on the controversial plan for a 62 space parking lot for Highlands Inn and access off Highway 1 is set for September 10 at 10:30 a.m. at a County Board of Supervisors meeting.

County Zoning Administrator Robert Slimmon had rejected the inn's application on safety and esthetic grounds. He was backed by the county road department in his contention that it would be hazardous to have another driveway in that area of limited visibility.

Several Carmel Highlands residents objected also to the facts that the steeply sloping parking lot could be seen from Highway 1 which has been designated by the state as a scenic highway.

Placement Exams

New students planning to attend Monterey Peninsula College full time in the fall, as well as all part-time or evening students who wish to enroll in English, United States history, American government, psychology, philosophy, sociology or speech classes, will have three more opportunities to take the required placement examination:

Saturday, August 24, 8 a.m. to noon, MPC Library Lecture Hall.

Saturday, August 31, 8 a.m. to noon, Library Lecture Hall.

Tuesday, September 3, 6 to 9:30 p.m., Library Lecture Hall. Any of the dates may be chosen.

Dr. Keith Merrill, evening division dean, points out that evening students who can present evidence of previous successful college work to a college counselor may be exempted from taking the test.

Devendorf Park Forum Report

Sunday, August 18, 1968, 1 p.m. saw an event not uncommon in New England, but rather rare in California. An open forum, held in Devendorf Plaza reminded one of the New England town meetings. Called by James McClain, of Monterey, who had the previous week been arrested for violation of the new City ordinance prohibiting sitting on the grass of the Park, the meeting gave the 150 to 250 persons in attendance ample opportunity to voice their greivances or support for this new ordinance. Many took advantage of the opportunity and some also extended their remarks to take up other causes near and dear to them, but not necessarily always germain.

In response to a request for a show of hands more than 50% of those in attendance identified themselves as Carmel residents, the others being interested parties from nearby communities who have had occasion to use this facility in the past. Many of the speeches were not well heard for the sound amplification equipment brought by Mr. McClain and his supporters could not be used as no proper permit had been granted. However, all was not lost as the amplifier provided a very convenient podium and stage for the speaker as it was situated directly beneath the flag pole.

During the gathering several cries went up for representatives of Carmel's government to present themselves and explain their position, however none were available with the exception of Chief Klauman who declined to speak, maintaining his position as a law enforcement officer only.

Following two hours of discussion during which the crowd was orderly and well behaved, Mrs. Ann Parr, part-owner of Carmel's Friar Tuck Book store seated herself on the grass in open violation of the new ordinance and after refusing to remove herself was taken into custody. The hat was passed through the crowd so that her $35.00 bail could be met and after booking proceedings she was released awaiting future disposition of the case. As is Mr. McClain, Mrs. Parr intends to challenge the constitutionality of the ordinance and will be represented by counsel in this effort.

Nancy Thompson Bride in Joint Rites

Nancy Jeanne Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Thompson, Jr. of Carmel, became the bride of James Joseph Eskilson of Santa Barbara at impressive rites held Sunday, August 18, at the San Carlos Cathedral in Monterey.

Father Virgil Cordano, OFM of the Santa Barbara Mission and the Reverend David Hill of All Saints' Episcopal Church, officiated at the joint Roman Catholic-Episcopalian ceremony held at four o'clock in the historic church, which was decorated with arrangements of white and yellow chrysanthemums and gladiolas. The pews were marked with large white satin bows.

The petite brunette bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor length gown of white linen styled with an empire bodice and A-line silhouette. Venise lace bordered the sabrina neckline and the chapel train. A cluster of venise lace held an English silk illusion veil, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Sharon Smith of Carmel, maid of honor, and bridesmaids Beth Thompson (sister of the bride), Mary Grace Lobrovich, Sheila Clevenger, and Mrs. Robert L. Faretta were dressed alike in floor length yellow linen gowns trimmed with venise lace. Wide yellow bows combined with white carnations and yellow rosebuds were in their hair and they carried nosegays of the same flowers tied with yellow satin streamers.

Dean Reed, Jim's roommate at the University of California at Santa Cruz, served as best man, and seating the guests were Nancy's brother, Lawrence Thompson, Robert Lubin, Robert Faretta, and the groom's brother, Russel J. Eskilson, Jr.

The Tennis Ranch in the Carmel Valley was the setting for the reception, where a buffet supper was served and there was dancing on the terrace to Mike Marotta's orchestra. Candlelit tables were set on the lawn around the pool.

The bride, a graduate of Carmel High School, attended the University of California at Davis for two years and will continue her studies at the University of California at Santa Barbara. She is the sister of Beth, Lawrence, William, Robert and Douglas Thompson, all of Carmel. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Thompson, Sr. of Pacific Grove are her grandparents.

The new benedict, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russel J. Eskilson of Santa Barbara, is a graduate of the University of California at Santa Cruz, where he was an honor student in the History Department. He is the brother of Russel J. Eskilson, Jr. and Randal Eskilson of Santa Barbara. His grandmother, Mrs. Flora Kontje of Santa Barbara also attended the nuptials.

They will live in Santa Barbara.

David Hunter Marries Beth Whitmore

The wedding of David Howard Hunter of Carmel to Beth Whitmore of Surrey, England, took place August 12 at Westminster Presbyterian Church in Akron, Ohio. Hunter of Tall Timbers on Mission south of Santa Lucia, Carmel.

Given in marriage by her father, Beth was dressed in traditional white with a shoulder length silk illusion veil and bow. She carried white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

She was attended by her twin sister, Mrs. William Bradstreet, Julie Whitmore and Elizabeth Ann Hunter, the groom's sister. They wore floor length gowns of yellow raw silk and carried yellow glamellias.

Peter Hunter served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Mark Whitmore, Mark Jenkins, and Stephen W. Gaubitz.

Major and Mrs. Thomas N. Sherburne

Military Wedding for Nancy Easetrbrook

The Stilwell clan has been gathering from all parts of the world for the wedding of Nancy Easterbrook to Major Thomas N. Sherburne, which took place Saturday at two in the main chapel at Fort Ord.

Nancy is the daughter of retired Maj. Gen. and Mrs. E. F. Easterbrook who flew in from Tokyo to give his daughter's hand in marriage. She is the granddaughter of the late Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell and Mrs. Stilwell who lives at Carmel Point. Her other grandparents are the late Chaplain and Mrs. Edmund P. Easterbrook.

For her wedding, Nancy wore the gown designed for the wedding of her grandmother, Mrs. Stilwell. The gown, adapted for her, was made of ivory satin with embroidered front panel and side panels of lace. The Brussels lace veil, which belonged to her great-grandmother, fell the full length of the chapel train. With it Nan carried a bouquet of ivory roses and gardenias.

Miss Sally Abel, a longtime friend from Arlington, Virginia who has been living with Nan in Palo Alto, was her only attendant. Her peacock blue dress looked quaintly old-fashioned, and its ivory lace matched the wedding gown.

Major Roger MacLeod, West Point classmate, served as best man. Other ushers were Major Donald Leonetti, William Esselstein, Peter Davenport and Nan's brother Jim, a junior at Stanford.

Near the close of the reception in the Cypress Room at Stilwell Hall, a lovely birthday cake was wheeled in to honor Mrs. Stilwell whose birthday was next day. All sang "Happy birthday Win", and the bridegroom offered an affectionate toast to his new mother-in-law.

The couple will live in San Francisco until January when Maj. Sherburne will enter the Indonesian class at the Defence Langauge Institute in Monterey.

Nan attended Mt. Holyoke and was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley. She has been employed at Stanford Research Institute in Palo Alto.

Her groom is a graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, class of 1961. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Sherburne of Pensacola, Florida. He is the grandson of the late Col. T. L. Sherburne and Mrs. Sherburne.

Letter From Dorothy von Meier

Williamsburg, Virginia
Aug. 14, 1968

As most Carmelites find when they travel, the world is really a small place! This was borne out this morning when I went into the Yarn Shop to get some crewel yarn, as the proprietess was talking on the telephone. She turned out to be Sally Glaser Dewey, talking to her father, James Glaser, in Pebble Beach! We talked at great length and had an interesting visit.

I have been imbued with family history, and tomorrow will revisit the historic Wren Building on the William & Mary campus, where one of my ancestors, William Leigh, then a student in moral philosophy, delivered a commemorative address on August 15, 1771, on the 78th anniversary of the College's founding. The following year he was ordained by the Bishpo of London and returned to become the rector of Chesterfield Parish, Petersburg and the famed Henrico Parish in Richmond. He was the grandfather of (as the Henrico Parish history puts it), "the chaste and elegant orator and able statesman, Senator Benjamin Watkins Leigh, and the pure-minded and learned Judge William Leigh, who so long and spotlessly wore the ermine."

Last week I was happy to have my daughter and son-in-law, Kathie and Carol McKenney and their children here for a visit. We toured Tidewater, Virginia, visiting where my ancestors came in the old Jamestown area 1610; Yorkhown, Petersburg and the town of McKenney, Virginia.

From Petersburg, I secured copies of old documents relating to the Rev. Dr. Hezekiah Leigh, noted Methodist educator, who founded Randolph-Macon College in Boydton, Virginia. We also went clamming in the warm shallows of the James River, digging them up with our toes.

Earlier this week, I visited in Norfolk and spent an interesting morning at the Leigh Memorial Hospital reading old articles relating to the founding of the hospital by Dr. Southgate Leigh in 1903.

The weather has been varied . . . humid, sticky days in the 90's; crashing thunder and lightning storms and some evenings in the 60's when the fireflies dance under the crepe myrtle trees and a host of hungry bugs come out to dine.

Margaret Gummerson

Scott Short and two other youngsters, Vickie and Bill Sours, were down at the beach the other day looking for deposit bottles when Scott picked up a long green bottle, with a note in it. The note, written in four different languages, invited the finder to write to an address in West Germany. The children brought it into The Pine Cone and now we are wondering how the bottle got to the Pacific Coast. Scott has been visiting his uncle, Mr. Raymond Wilson, on Casanova and Ocean. His father, Col. James H. Short, just returned from Vietnam.

James Smith To Wed

Invitations for the wedding of James Bellaire Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde J. Smith, of Carmel, to Margaret Anne Gummerson of Monmouth, Illinois, have been issued by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph William Gummerson. Jim's father is a local architect.

The wedding will take place August 25 at Bethany Theological Seminary Chapel in Oakbrook, Illinois.

Margaret is a junior at George Williams college at Downers Grove, Illinois, working toward a science degree in group work. Jim, who attended San Francisco State College for three years, was graduated at George Williams College and recently earned a masters degree in counseling at the same school.

Cullinan-Townsend Marriage

The former Mrs. William J. Cullinan of Carmel and Mr. Arthur I. Townsend of Milbrae were married on July 19 at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. George Atkins of Berkeley.

Mr. Townsend is a retired attorney, formerly associated with the Industrial Accident Commission of the state of California.

The newlyweds are leaving shortly for a trip through the South. They expect to be at home in Carmel after October 1.

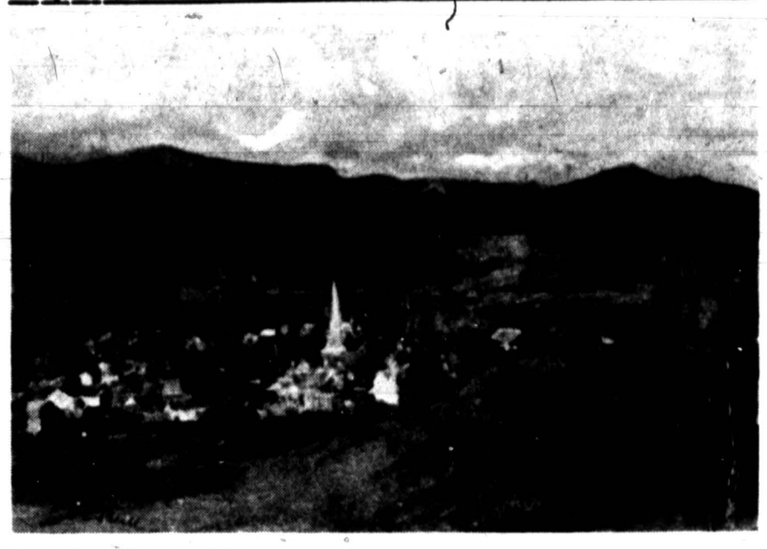
Serigraphs at Bautista

A showing of the unique serigraphs of Sister Mary Corita is at the Mariposa Place, San Juan Bautista, this week through Sept. 16.

Sister Corita, art instructor at Immaculate Heart College in Los Angeles, enjoys an international reputation for her art work. Her prints, called "Advertisements for Life," hang in galleries and museums across the country including the Museum of Modern Art and the Metropolitan Museum in New York. The show is now in progress at Mariposa Place open to the public Wednesday through Sunday, eleven to five.

Look Magazine featured her in a special issue on California as the "artist of the here and now."

Her gay serigraphs combine quotations of great minds with the familiar ad slogans of today. The work of the students and the graduates of the department is being recognized throughout the art world as a fresh new approach to the presentation and appreciation of modern art.



"New England Fall, Stowe, Vt."

C. C. Beall At Perry House

The featured artist at the Perry House Gallery at present is C. C. Beall. Mr. Beall is a versatile artist, at home in any medium and master of any subject matter. His portraits of Lincoln, Truman and Kennedy are arresting; and are done on thought-provoking backgrounds of timely front page tear sheets, appropriate to each president.

The beautiful effect he achieves with birds is done by thin layers of paper each painted and showing through the others, creating a certain depth and transparency. Mr. Beall's watercolor of "Old Chinatown" is gay and nostalgic. His paintings of animals are solid and believable, patiently performing their rural tasks.

As a war correspondent during World War II, Mr. Beall produced some of his most famous paintings. "Flag-raising at Iwo Jima" and the "Japanese Surrender on Board the Missouri" which President Truman designated as the official painting of the surrender. His works are on display in many museums throughout the United States.

PARTY PLANS . . .

by Phyllis Jervey

"Light Salad Luncheons"

Take-it-easy entertaining is kept intentionally simple when "lunch-for-the-gals" takes place regularly for bridge or club activities. Summer salad days are year round here in California with such a profusion of greens, fruits and vegetables from which to choose. For a committee meeting each could bring her own sandwich and the salad is on the house where the gathering takes place. It seems unnecessary to serve soup as tea or coffee answers the liquid requirements.

A fun idea is to have a monthly Recipe Swap Contest when each brings a recipe to swap for her own collection. Spontaneous contributions are discussed over the sandwich-salad get-together.

Let's start with a cool, light and delightful summer chicken and orange salad. Just the appropriate luncheon dish for bridge clubs, after golf foursomes, coffee klatch extensions or feting old school chums who've come to town. The main ingredient in this ambrosial concoction is canned boned chicken with broth . . . the handy summer aide that blends well into a quickly assembled and inexpensive patio-style entree.

Chicken Orange Cups

Four oranges; 4 cans (5 oz. each) boned chicken with broth, cut up; 2 cups thin cucumber slices, cut in half; 1 cup sour cream; ½ t. dried dill leaves; curly endive; orange cups.

Halve oranges by making zig-zag cuts to center. Separate halves carefully and remove orange sections from shells; combine with chicken and cucumbers. Fill orange shells. Combine sour cream and dill; spoon over chicken. Decorate plates with curly endive. Makes 8 servings.

To make this into a bon voyage or welcome home party, add toasted bread strips topped with Parmesan and paprika. And serve an easy dessert made from bakery angel food cake with a strawberry glaze to round out the luncheon. In this case the sandwiches are eliminated.

Another enticing salad is the following.

Crab-Fruit Bowl Supreme

Four cantaloupes, halved and seeded; 3 cups seeded Tokay grape halves; 4 large grapefruit sections; 4 (7¾ oz., each) cans best King crab meat, drained; 2 cups sour cream or yogurt; 2 T. milk; 2 T. finely chopped crystallized ginger; 2 t. lemon juice; 2 t. curry powder; 2 large avocados; 6 T. lemon juice; 2/3 cups mashed Bleu cheese; ½ cup light cream; 2 t. sugar; assorted crackers.

Hollow out cantaloupes using melon-ball scoop or the half teaspoon of a metal measuring spoon set. Combine melon balls with grapes and grapefruit sections. You may use canned grapes. Refrigerate. Remove any bony tissue from crab meat; chill. Combine next five ingredients. Blend well, cover and refrigerate. Sieve the ripe avocado pulp and mix with lemon juice. Add cheese, cream and sugar. Blend again, cover and refrigerate. To serve, toss fruit with crab meat. Shrimps are also nice, as is tuna with the fruit. Pile into melon halves. Serve with a choice of salad dressings and crackers. Makes 8 servings with 2½ cups Avocado-Bleu Cheese dressing and 2 cups Curry-Ginger dressing.

To be sure, with the above more elaborate salad nothing else is served. And for a third choice here are

Ratatouille Filled Tomatoes

One onion, chopped finely; 1 clove garlic; 1/3 cup olive oil; 1 eggplant, peeled and cubed; 1 zucchini, sliced unpared; 2 green peppers, cut in 1-inch strips; 1 T. each basil and salt; ½ t. each ground pepper, celery salt and thyme; 6 large ripe tomatoes, pulp scooped out and seeded; lettuce.

In large skillet saute onion and garlic in olive oil until soft. Add vegetables and toss. Stir in seasonings and tomato pulp. Simmer, covered, until soft, about 30 minutes. Cool and chill several hours. Sprinkle tomato cavities with salt and turn upside down and chill. Spoon ratatouille mixture into tomatoes and refrigerate until serving time. Put onto pretty salad plates and decorate with lettuce hearts or watercress. Pass cheese crackers and French dressing.

The pines surrounding Forest Theater seemed to sway with the music of Ray Fabrizio's flute and the harp played by Joel Andrews last Sunday afternoon. Clouds set up a gentle cross rhythm against the backdrop of the blue sky.

The appreciative audience drank in the sun and the music which ranged from Telemann and Bach to the contemporary harmonies of Faure, Ravel and Iberti. Andrews demonstrated new effects with the harp by Persichetti and played some of his own music inspired by the Big Sur coast.

The concert was marred only by a broken string when the fog started to roll in, the drone of airplanes overhead, and the occasional noisy cut-out of a passing motorist. MH

Theatre Guide

"Streetcar Named Desire": Really marvelous performance of a great play. Characterizations of the aging Southern belle, her younger sister who has married a rough, sadistic type, and the husband, are tops.

"Seven Keys to Baldpate": Hilarious mystery comedy about the writer who retires to a lonely place to write, but is interrupted by a beautiful girl, thieves, a crazy hermit, crooks, etc. Well acted.

"Carnival": Musical fantasy about a company of traveling troupers. The little girl who comes to join them has an appealing personality and an enchanting voice.

She has been active in Hollywood in theatrical productions, television and movies prior to coming home. She recently played in "The Mikado" and "Oliver" in Carmel. The response to her superb performance in "Streetcar Namd Desire" has been most gratifying to the Welles Humanist Educational workshop.

Sunset Notes

by Dr. James E. Gilman

"Al the arts have a certain common bond of union and are connected by blood relationship with one another." So wrote Circero in 62 B.C. Cicero's words are as true today as when he wrote them 2,000 years ago.

In over 300 areas in the United States today there exist Arts Coordinating Councils whose purpose is to establish communication between the various arts activities and the community at large. They serve to encourage cooperation between the arts and to coordinate the activities so as to eliminate duplication of effort, conflicting activities and overlapping functions.

Our own local group, the Arts Coordinating Council of Monterey County, was formed in April 1966. The Council serves its member organizations and the community at large by acting as a clearing house for dates of special events; publishing a regular calendar of arts activities and developing a talent file of artists, musicians and performers in the area. It serves as a united voice in the community in the affairs of the arts.

THE PINE CONE, the Carmel Cultural Commission together with all of the major cultural organizations based at the Carmel Cultural Center are members of the Council. These include the Carmel Bach Festival, Carmel Music Society, Community Theatre of the Monterey Peninsula, Friends of Photography and the County Symphony Association.

The Council publishes a monthly calendar called Focus On The Arts that lists the cultural activities going on each day in the area. Financed entirely by the United California Bank, copies can be obtained in the libraries, museums and many shops and public places throughout the peninsula. It is a excellent example of the cooperation and support that the business community can provide.

A valuable feature of the calendar which does not meet the eye is the master calendar which has been developed in producing the monthly issues. Now set up through June 1970 with future listings, it is helpful before choosing dates for future events to call Mrs. E. H. Melvin, executive director of the Council, so as to avoid conflicts that may affect the success of an event. Mrs. Melvin may be reached at 624-5560.

South Pacific

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Brown of Carmel Valley returned last month from spending three months in the South Pacific. We hope to hear more about their travels.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

With no cure for the common cold, books about the ailment itself are just as common. Comes now a new one by Dr. James Adams which he has called Viruses and Colds. The handling of subject seems to be in an easy reading popular manner. The doctor discusses related diseases such as measles and allergies, and seems to put emphasis on small children and their cold-like ailments. This might be a very good book for parents of small children as well as adults with tendencies toward the sniffles.

Another book on jewelry is entitled Jewelry to Make Yourself and is by Milli von Socher. Especially nice are the necklaces made from beads strung on jeweler's wire, and the directions seem to be complete and relatively simple. This is a County book and available to anyone holding a County card as well as to Carmel people.

Jess Stearn is known for his books on Yoga, and Edgar Cayce. His latest book is called The Search for the Girl with the Blue Eyes. This is actually a treatise on reincarnation and the reader comes to accept reincarnation as a basic fact as he accepts the history of Joanne MacIver and her former lives revealed through hypnotism. In many ways it is a comforting sort of book, the assurance that we have lived many lives before this one and will undoubtedly live many more after this one. Joanne, the subject of the book, was a seventeen year old girl living in Canada. Her recollection of other lives was brought to Stearn's attention and he went to Canada to interview her. The interview lengthened into many, into exploration of the countryside, into many sessions with a hypnotist, and and finally into this book.

When You're A Widow by Clarissa Start is a book on an ever timely subject since there are said to be eight million widows in this country. Speaking as one of the eight million, I could have been better satisfied if she had omitted her first chapter in which she describes her husband's death. But the rest of the book is a helpful thing, for the author tells all the things she had to do after her husband was gone and all the things she knew would be coming up to be settled, and a life to be led. A book like this is often wasted, for newly widowed women will not read it, and widows of long standing do not need it.

William Taubman is an instructor at Amherst and recently spent a year as a student in Russia. He believes there is a ferment going on under the surface among Russian students. He thinks some of them openly criticize the Communist propaganda line and the Russian leaders. This is hard for a Capitalist to believe but we can all hope. The book about all this is entitled The View From The Lenin Hills.

And finally let us take one swift look at Designing and Making Stage Scenery by Michael Warre of the London Academy of Music and Dramatic Art. The illustrations are important in a book of this kind and these are sketches, plans, and photographs of actual sets. Some of them are so spectacular they make the reader long a little to have seen the production in which they were used. This is a small book which should be very practical for the designer.

Watercolor Exhibit

The 4th Annual Watercolor Competition sponsored by the Pacific Grove Kiwanis Club will be exhibited Sept. 11 through Oct. 13 at the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History. The competition is limited to any aqueous medium and participants must be residents of Monterey County. Rules and entry forms are available at the museum or call 372-4212.

The introductory party was more than a gracious affair attended by notables from all the area, it was a magnificent display of the loveliest creations of feminine apparel, designed by the leading houses of fashion from Europe and America. Barbara Jackson, her managers, staff and daughters superbly modeled exquisite gowns that represent fashions the Jacksons' Toggery has brought to Carmel for you.

700 Tested for Alcoholism

The National Council on Alcoholism of the Monterey Peninsula Area tested over 700 individuals for risk of alcohol problems during the Monterey County Fair where the Council's mobile unit distributed information on the prevention of alcoholism.

According to the Council test results showed that 60 per cent of the drinkers tested scored "low" or safe, 27 per cent scored "medium risk" and 12 per cent scored "high risk."

Speed—Alcohol

Excessive speed continues to reign supreme as the No. One cause of highway deaths. In 1967, according to a survey, excessive speed was involved in 39 per cent of the 52,200 highway deaths.

The use of alcohol by drivers and pedestrians leads to some 25,000 deaths and 800,000 crashes each year.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE RADIO PROGRAM

"Overcoming a Hostile Environment" is the title of next Sunday's program in the Christian Science radio series "The Bible Speaks to You." It will be broadcast over station KGO at 7:15 a.m.; KRML at 8:00 a.m. and KDON at 8:45 a.m. An unusual dialogue will be presented which will tell how prayerful thinking, instructed by Bibical truths, tames and disarms a hostile environment.

Christian Science Sunday Sermon

Congregations in Christian Science churches around the world will hear a Lesson-Sermon this Sunday on "Mind."

The Golden Text is from Daniel: "Blessed be the name of God for ever and ever: for wisdom and might are his."

Selections to be read from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following: "Having one God, one Mind, unfolds the power that heals the sick, and fulfills these sayings of Scripture, 'I am the Lord that healeth thee,' and 'I have found a ransom.' When the divine precepts are understood, they unfold the foundation of fellowship, in which one mind is not at war with another, but all have one Spirit, God, one intelligent source, in accordance with the Scriptural command: 'Let this Mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus.'"

Rod Johnson, MPC student last year.

Carmel Travelers

Beirut, Lebanon

Experiences in the Middle East with Dr. and Mrs. Reuben Johnson and son Rod. Dr. Johnson is on sabbatical leave from MPC.

Arriving at the Mayflower Hotel in Beirut which is located several blocks from the American University and very near the shops we called Malek Rayess' parents to say hello. Malek is now a student at Monterey Peninsula College. A whole new world opened up. Our visit here in Lebanon was one of the special highlights of the trip. From here on we did not want for anything. We were taken by car to places almost a hundred miles away. We were invited to meet the relatives which included twenty families, grandparents, brothers, sisters, their families, cousins, etc.

Three big dinners were given for us with rooms of people attending. The Lebanese food is unusual and very delicious. We have never been so royally treated. We were simply taken over, all trips planned to interesting sites. The family came to the hotel and took us, baggage and all to their home for three days. We couldn't accept all the invitations extended to us. One brother-in-law who works at the bank took time off for three days. Two teenagers were excused from school two days to show Rod around. It was one big celebration. This is a big family and they hold important positions in Aley. One family who entertained us is the vice president of the telephone company in Beirut. His brother is a physician, the personal physician for the ruler of Kuwait. One of the sisters is a lawyer, another a publisher of a magazine. The street where they reside is named Rayess Street and all the families on the street are relatives. The homes are usually four stories high.

These people are the most warm, friendly people that I have ever met. A meal consists of at least three or four kinds of meat and at least twenty dishes of interesting and most delicious foods. We were served meals and lunches everywhere we visited. An herb tea is sipped before and after meals to aid digestion. The two teenage boys just took Rod over and entertained him. He had the time of his life and would love to go back. The young girls helping with the serving would say, "Madam, do you like?" "Are you happy with the food?" "You must try some of this—it is made with my mother's own hands."

You can't believe how different life here is. Grandpa had big baggy pants with a white cloth draped over his head and a real pleasant face with eyes that sparkled, also a big bushy mustache. Grandma had much the same costume with dresses to the floor, headdress much like grandpa's. When Reuben and Rod came around they covered their faces. The doorbell rang constantly; curious neighbors came in to see the Americans. The mother got a piece of handmade embroidery and gave it to me. They are so sweet and warm.

Today was another wonderful day. We took a tour—200 K.M. It was to The Cedars (called Cedars of the Lord) by way of Dog River, Byblos and Tripoli. Along the Dog River are inscriptions of conquerors (Assyrian, Hittite, Egyptian, British and French). Byblos, which dates from 3000 B.C., is thought to be the oldest continuously inhabited city in the world. These ruins are high on a hill overlooking the sea. Then we went to Tripoli with its famous Castle of Raymond de St. Gillas. The drive from the sea up to "The Cedars" located high in the snow was the most spectacular mountain drive I think I have ever seen. We ate lunch at a charming chateau surrounded in deep snow. The Cedars (Cedars of the Lord) is a cluster of 400 trees varying in ages between 2000 and 4000 years. They look a little like our Cypress but much bigger. We ended the trip by going to a Persian rug market. Wish I could afford one. They are beautiful.

Another Letter From Beirut

Mrs. Joseph (Louise) Tanous writes to the Pine Cone from Beirut, Lebanon.

What's happening to the Sunset Center? Are there any hippies in town? Did you all celebrate Fourth of July on the beach? Are the taxes up? Are there any old trees down? etc., etc. We really wonder what's going on in that fog-bound paradise . . . what we would give for a bit of fog when the noonday sun beats down here. Anyway I am writing to ask the cost of an overseas subscription, via surface mail. If you want to start a subscription and bill us, fine!

A bit of news from here: Joseph Tanous, Assistant Professor of Art (who makes his home in Carmel but never stays home!!) has been appointed Chairman of the Fine Arts Department (Art, Music, Drama) at the American University, Beirut. Leo (Leo Tanous, Ocean Avenue Realty) can give you any details and it would be wonderful if you ran a little note about it so our friends and neighbors would know. I'm an assistant professor of linguistics but they haven't made me chairman of any departments yet!

Sincerely yours,
Louise Tanous

MPC Faculty On Sabbaticals

Richard B. Frazer of Carmel, speech instructor at Monterey Peninsula College, will visit schools in western Europe to undertake a study of the "accent problems" of Europeans who speak English in order to be able to correct some of these problems among the foreign students at MPC.

Donald Borden of Carmel, MPC director of athletics, who is taking a half-year sabbatical, will take his wife and two daughters, Kristen and Lynden to see the Olympic Games in Mexico City, but they will take "the long way around." They will drive up the West Coast to Canada, across to Quebec, down the East Coast to Florida and then across Texas and down to Mexico City. There they will meet Mr. and Mrs. Neil Jensen of Carmel who will also attend the Olympics.

He will visit physical education departments in colleges and junior colleges along the way.

You know, it's not very often your phone ever goes on the blink. But if it ever does, our apologies. To get it fixed, just call Repair Service —if necessary, from another phone. (Check the front pages of your directory for the repair number.) If it's after hours and you think the problem can wait until the next working day, we'll take care of it then. On the other hand, we know that emergencies choose their own hours. So if your phone needs to be fixed promptly, it will be. And there's no extra charge for this repair service.

August is the time when you find your house is too big and you have too many guests, or it's too small and you haven't enough room for them, or it's too dark in Carmel's misty summers, or you're too far from town (or too close), or there's too much yard, or not enough, or it needs remodeling and you get tired just thinking about doing it.

If your home doesn't suit you any more, maybe it will suit someone else who has a different set of requirements. You can spend a lot of time and frustration looking for that someone else, or you can call for help from people whose sole business is to match up your set of problems with someone else's desires. Carmel Museum of Art Hosts Early CAA

At 8 p.m. on August 22 the Carmel Museum of Art in the old Wells Fargo Bank building on Dolores Street will have a reception for invited guests to preview a new exhibition, "Roots of the Carmel Art Association." In attendance will be museum members, the Board of the Carmel Art Association, artists and collectors of paintings of early Carmel.

Persons still living in Carmel who were CAA officers during the period of 1927-1934 are: E. Charlton Fortune, Nora Nichols (Mrs. R. D. Grabill), Edda Heath Pappel, Ferdinand Burgdorff, George Seideneck and Barnet Segal. Other artists who were active include Abbie Lou Bosworth (Mrs. Laidlaw Williams), Jean Kellogg (Mrs. James Dickie), Dr. Margaret Levick, Jeannette Maxfield Lewis, Miss Charlotte A. Morton, Miss Marjorie Pegram, Moira Wallace (Mrs. Guthrie Courvoisier), Miss E. Grace Ward, Bruce Ariss, Elwood Graham, Royden Martin and Howard E. Smith. Also invited is Mrs. Nellie Montague who was curator in 1934.

In the absence of Curator Kent Seavey, the show has been prepared and hung by Research Director Mrs. Betty Lochrie Hoag. It traces the history of early artists in Carmel, and is meant as a tribute to those who first organized the Carmel Art Association in 1927 and fought during the bitter years of the depression to establish a permanent gallery for artists of the area. The Carmel Art Association was finally organized as a non-profit corporation in 1934 and moved into its beautiful home, also on Dolores Street, near Sixth Avenue.

The exhibition will open to the public on Friday, August 23, and will run until mid-December.

now, it has been enough, but this may be simply due to the fact that no oil company has yet found what it considered to be a potentially interesting off-shore "find."

Meanwhile oil companies have sought and received permits to "explore" for oil and gas in Monterey County's off-shore coastal areas. One such permit was issued last May to the Marathon Oil Company by the State Lands Commission, and this permit allows exploration by that company to continue until next November.

Last May, however, when notice of the permit issued to Marathon Oil, came to the attention of the Monterey County Board of Supervisors, that Board didn't just order the notice filed. Even though the Board had no power to veto the action of the State Lands Commission, it decided to make its voice heard, and probably considerably startled the Lands Commission which would not have expected to hear at all from any local County Board in such a matter.

Supervisor Willard Branson, who represents much of the Monterey Peninsula, made a motion addressed to the State Lands Commission saying the Monterey County Board of Supervisors was "opposed to any submarine explorations in the off-shore areas of Monterey County." The motion was seconded by Supervisor Loren Smith, who represents the rest of the Monterey Peninsula including Seaside and Fort Ord. Branson and Smith were joined by south county Supervisor Robert Wood to make up the Board majority which approved the Branson motion.

In addition to suggesting the amending wording for the state legislature to use to stop oil exploration off the Monterey County coastline, City Attorneys Burleigh and Marsh framed a draft resolution which could be used by city councils and boards of supervisors to convey their hoped-for opposition to the exploration permits. The last two "whereas" paragraphs of this draft resolution may perhaps best convey to you, the potential peril in granting oil exploration permits. Here are the paragraphs:

"WHEREAS, no oil company would expend the considerable money necessary for exploration unless it hoped to find oil or gas deposits, and hoped to be able to extract them. If a major deposit of oil or gas were to be discovered in one of the lands excluded for extraction of oil, it would merely be necessary for the State Legislature to amend the Public Resources Code to permit the extraction of the oil.

"WHEREAS, it is inconsistent to permit the exploration for oil and gas if extraction of the oil or gas is prohibited. It would therefore be consistent to prohibit exploration for oil or gas in areas from which the legislature has prohibited the extraction of oil or gas."

At last week's AMBAG Board meeting, which was held at the Casa Munras in Monterey, Mayor Minnie Coyle, who heads AMBAG, suggested that the city attorneys—Burleigh and Marsh—might wish to do further work on the wording of the proposals to stop the oil exploration which was being discussed.

Therefore, to avoid an excessive laboring of language in the proposals, Santa Cruz Supervisor Henry Mello phrased his motion to "endorse the concept of the wording" as presented. The motion was seconded by Carmel Councilman Eben Whittlesey, and was unanimously approved by the AMBAG Board.

It appeared likely, as this is written, that the Monterey City Council would become the first local legislative body to have formally before it, the stop-exploration proposals. The Monterey City Council is scheduled to meet September 3.

Last year—at the time when the State Lands Commission had issued an earlier oil exploration permit—the Carmel City Council discussed the matter and expressed itself as being opposed to such exploration, though it had no authority to act in such a permit matter.

The next regular meeting of the Carmel City Council will take place September 4, at which time Councilman Eben Whittlesey is due to report upon his participation in the AMBAG meeting at which th oil exploration proposals were acted upon.

"On the Fence" Art Show in Carmel Valley

The Artist's Co-op Gallery in Carmel Valley will present an outdoor show under the oaks on Aug. 24 and 25 (Sat. and Sun.) from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. This will be on the White Oaks property and will feature the paintings of Lucile Herbert.

Lucile Herbert is a native Californian, a graduate of Stanford University as an art major. Later she attended the California School of Fine Arts in San Francisco. She has studied locally with Clarence Bates, Feg Murray, Kay Rogers, Bennett Bradburg and Nancy Johnson.

This show will be the first of a weekly, Sunday, "on the fence" series.

The beautiful white oaks adjacent to the gallery on the White Oak property make a beautiful setting for these weekly outdoor shows.

The public is cordially invited to drive 12 miles out the Carmel Valley Road from Highway No. 1 and join the Artist's Co-op allery in enjoying the paintings of its members, Bernice Huber and Stan Spohn of Carmel and Lucile Herbert and Jeanne Fosnot of Carmel Valley.

For further information, phone Jean Hofsas, 659-4582.

'Nursery Opening'

The "little red school house," home of the Carmel Cooperative Nursery School, under the auspices of Carmel Adult Education program, will open its doors for the school year September 10.

The mothers are required to give three hours a week in helping at school, and attend a Monday evening meeting at Carmel High School. Openings are available and those interested may call Mrs. Canham at 624-7990 or Mrs. Ataide, 624-5766.

Sherrie Stephenson (right) of Clovis, California and Carmel's Carol Fitzsimmons are shown examining the tempting selection of fall clothing styles for teen and college set at Gladys McCloud's shop on Ocean Avenue. Sherrie is preparing to return to Fresno State University while Carol anticipates the return of her husband from Vietnam and Japan.
